ecoProach and Chandler Building & Development are Energy Upgrade California Certified

We are proud to announce that ecoProach, and its parent company Chandler Building & Development, passed the final round of qualifying examinations in order to become registered with Energy Upgrade California. Energy Upgrade California! "Energy Upgrade California™ is an unprecedented alliance among California counties, cities, non-profit organizations, government agencies, the state's investor-owned utilities (Pacific Gas and Electric, Southern California Edison, Southern California Gas Company, and San Diego Gas & Electric®), and publicly owned utilities" seeking to spread the word about energy efficiency. To ease the transition to greener living, many incentives are offered are offered to homeowners receiving home energy audits and performing remediation.

ecoProach is now certified to perform the incentive-based home energy audits through Energy Upgrade California!

Contact us today at the numbers listed above or visit energyupgradecalifornia.org for more information on how to start greening your home with ecoProach.
